

Missouri Chapter of the American Fisheries Society

Joe G. Dillard Outstanding Undergraduate Scholarship

The Missouri Chapter of the American Fisheries Society assists deserving students with financial aid for their professional development in the aquatic natural resources field. The scholarship is named after Joe G. Dillard, who has been a tremendous contributor to both MOAFS and the development of undergraduate learning. Funding for this award comes from a combination of funds from the Student Support Trust Fund and student-support-specific fund-raisers led by the Chapter. The Joe G. Dillard Outstanding Undergraduate Scholarship seeks to support talented and promising aquatic natural resource professionals during their undergraduate studies in Missouri. A selection committee consisting of MOAFS members ranks applicants and selects the recipient (with preferences given to students with AFS involvement, financial need, and potential to impact the aquatics field). Once selected, the award recipient is notified and presented a check of up to $2500.00. Award monies must be used for education related expenses including tuition, books, fees, or travel to aquatic society related conferences or meetings.

Eligibility

Applicants must be, or plan to be, enrolled as an undergraduate student at a Missouri college or university during the semester when the scholarship is awarded (winter/spring semester) and pursuing a degree in the aquatics natural resource field (ex: natural resources management, fisheries science, biology, wildlife conservation, environmental science, or a related field). Applications and supporting materials must be submitted by December 1. Procedures and application are on the reverse side.
